NEW YORK, July 3. A TRUE I ENOCRAT.

I have seen a letter to-day from Mr l'endleton, in which he discourages al thought of discord on his account and urges his friends to go into the convention not only prepared to stand y the nomi nee, but to endorse its action heartily. THE SECOND PLACE.

To-night Gen. Rosecrans and Gov Eng ah, of Connecticut, are ahead for the Vice-Presidency. But speculation on no subject is more advised now than it was : week ago. All is confusion and turmoil

It is not at all likely that any import ant business will be done Saturday. The vention may sit till Wednesday.

At an adjourned meeting of the Ken tucky delegates to-day it was nuanimons ly resolved that the chairman cast the vote of the Kentucky delegation as a unit for George H. Pendleton. of Ohio, for the Presidency. A resolution was also adopted in which it was declared that the vote of the delegation he cast in favor of adhering to the two-third rule for the gov ernment of the coming convention Tickets of admission were distributed giving three to each member each day

Saliserry, N. C., June 25.

Bufus Ludwig, who killed his wife after being married to her only eleven days, was hanged here to-day. He went to the scaffold smoking a cigar; but when the edicers offered to put the noose around his neck he resisted violently and a desperate struggle ensued, ten of the deputies attempting to overpower him. The noose was fausly placed around his neck. He said he was about to be hung for a crime not committed by him, but by others who were not there but away somewhere else; that they had done the deed and packed it off ou him; that these parties were his mother and his sister Jane, that they killed his wife and he had no hand in it. He said that he was saddling his horse the next morning after his wife's leaving home, for the purpose of going to her mother's to see about her; that something seemed to tell him that nil was not right about her absence, though he said she had started to visit her mother the day before, that about the time he was mounting his horse his mother and sister come out and told him not to go, for he would not find her at her mother's, for that they themselves had killed her.

This, he said, they told him then, and it was the first that he knew about the crime; that he was not at the killing, and knew "nothing about the hours nor the minutes when it was done. He said he never saw his wife after she left home to go, as he thought, to her mother's, and that he never saw her dead hody. He said they told him they, and the rethroat, and then threw her in the water-course. This is the entire substance of his statement, arranged much more systematically than he made it.

The instant he touched the platform a most extraordinary and exciting scene ensued. He at once made a wild plungs forward with the intention of leaping off the platform on the further side and, with the evident purpose of making a hreak and a desperate endeavor to push his way through the crewd, and escape his impending doom. He succeeded in throwing his feet and legged of the platform, has legge and p of the guard at once rushed to the assistance of the sheriff and laid hold of Ludwig s legs, endeavoring to shove him backward on the platform. But the prisoner struggled with almost superhuman strength. A thrill of horror ran through the immors eassemble, e. and it swayed to and fro like a forest shaken by a mighty wind. Some turned and fid from the awful spectacle, exclamations of excite, ment and terror roke forth from others, woman and negroes shrieked. Such a scene is not often witnessed in this world. But those whose duty it was to actremained calm and cool. The guard, most of whom Lad been Confederate soldiers, simply brought their muskets to a "ready," and stood as serene as they were went to do in recent times of real damost like the despairing wretch would succeed in freeing himself from the powerful posse who were holding him. The noose was two feetforts were used to push him up to it. Meanwhile the platform grow rickety, and defort were employed in steadying it.

The noose was at last put on and drawn.

Tion.

The meeting of the Soldiers' and Sallors' Convention was largely attended lest evening at the Mofat House, Union Square. Each meeting appears to add members to the list, and the convention at Copper's Inetitute on the Fourth will undoubledly bea large and enthuslastic
one. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, General McQuade, Major Van Rosen, acting, pro tem, as secretary,
The Committee on Music reported that Memban's band had been engaged for the convention. Report adopted.

A discussion took place as to the advisability of adding to the number of delegates from New York, but it was argued that a large number of the delegates from other States would be in attendance, and that any increase in the number of those from New York would probably serve only to overcrowd the convention. It was resolved the connection therewith that the delegates from the several districts have power to fill vasancies in their number, and that such soldiers and asilms as desired to vote should be appointed to the vacancies which might arise in the connerty delegations. It was further resolved that each delegate to the convention be required to fornish the executive committee satisfactory proof, by a disbarree or otherwise, of having arreed in by itself.

A desultory and conflicting discussion took place as to the propriety of having a parade of the members of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention on the morning of the Fourth, but in view of the uncertainty of the arrival of the delegations from other Bates it was desented advisable to postpone any parade until the Monday following, when from six to eight thousand are expected to participate in a grand procession.

An invitation from the Twentieth Ward Democratic Soldiers' and Sailors' Ciub to join in a procession for the reception of the Keystone and American Clubs of Philadelphia on the 3d of July, and to partake of a banquet to be prepared for their entertainment was read, and it was resolved that the Secretary be instructed to acknowledge the receipt of the invitation, and to state that the Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention, not being a strictly political organization, they could not as such participale therein, but that anch of the members as could, would individually contribute to do honor to the said clubs on their arrival. The chairman was empowered to appoint committees to meet

They make the mistake of supposing that nothing will te gained beyond what is bargained for in the platforur. There is an instructive apologue in the school-books of a boy who was permitted to take a handful of nuts from a narrow-mouthed jar. In his greediness he filled his hand so full that indrawing it out he had to relax his grasp and lest them all. It is expedient to pitch our demands in so low a key as to give Repub icans an excuse for deserting their party. Not to dwell too long npon this topic, it may be generally remarked that the simpgile between the East and West on Pendieton and finance has already grown to be earnest and almost bitter.

POSSIBLE SHARP PRACTION.

POSSIBLE SHARP PRACTICES.

The Pendletonians are watching their opponents very closely and see something sinister in their every movement. They have heard a rumor that three hinders in their every movement. They have heard a rumor that three hindered tickets of admission to the hall have been reserved for Tammany Society, a large number more for the Manbaitan Club, and also for an undne proportion for ladies, leaving comparatively little room on the main floor for general comers. Hence they infer a purpose to pack the convention to the detriment of the West, and have expressed in very decided terms their purpose to resist any such arrangement. It was even asserted by one prominent Ohio Pendletcan inhat if any game of the kind was attempted they would pack off the convention to Pice's Opera Homes, and leave Tammany to its idois. Again, Mr. Angust Belmont, in his capacity of Chairman of the National Excusive Committee, appointed one El-ward Cook as Sergeant-at-Arms during the preliminary stages of the convention. How the Pendletonian chances were to ecocked by this action was not avowed, but it gave great umbrage. The Pendletonians denied the authority of Mr. Belmont to appoint any body without consultation with the committee, and announced their purpose of securing the appointment of Felix McCloskey. From sill this lit will be seen that the Pendletonians are wide awske, and the Antis are supposed to be very curning, and endeavoring to Investige isb into their nets with all manner of foul halts. The Pacific Delegations.

The delegations from Callfornia, Nevada, and Gregon have engaged a suitent pariors on the second floor of No. 28 Bond street, which they will occupy as their hear quarters during their attendance on the convention. A significant fact in connection with the Pacific delegation is, that cotone of its members will, under any elicumstance, go for Chase. The Pacific coast enjoys a reputation for producing hemicrats of the most headstrong type-partisars who ielieve that where thera is a will there is a way, and that it is quite an easy thing to mark that way so long as the will be strong cnough. The delegations from that distant action of the country profess to stand unpledged to any man or sny set of men, but it is hilleved that Pendleton is their choice, and that they will rally around his standard and maintain their position there until they discover that there is ro-possibility of securing the nomination for their favorite. So tar as Chasel-prospects are concerned, however, it may be regreted that they will meet with no encouragement whatever from the delegates from the Pacific coast.

The California delegates who have cathed here are Joseph Roberta, A. Jacoby, Win, G. Gillette, A. H. Rose, E. Steele, and Charles Fairfax. Ex Gov. Bigler will attend the convention, a telegrem having been received from him, dated Omaha, in which he says that he will be present either on Saturday or blooday. From Oregon, none of the regularity appointed delegates have arrived. Mr. J. vee is expected to reach the city to day. The delegates from this State have een ir attracted tog for Pendleton, which they will probably do, first, last, and all the time.

Strangely enough they urge him upon be ground of availability, and cite as proof that in all recent State elections when the Democracy has resorted to men of good war records they have universally met with defeat, but when they have just ferward mon of positive and steadiast on no positive said steadiast on no positive said steadiast. Thus it will be seen that Pendelton in the heroscope arranged by his triends last a roseate future. But, per contro, the opposition has nade it up differently, it.

Judge Hendricks was elected United States Senstor in 1893, the Democratic parly having galand a temporary ascendancy at the election of 1862. Party feeling against the prosecution of the war was very high, and Mr. Hendricks fully represented the copperhead element. In the "greenback isaue" he is fully up with Mr. Pendleton, having introduced resolutions into the Senate in favor of paying the bonds of an additional issue of paper currency.

Mr. Hendricks is probably the ablest public man now favored with conspicul-

One thing is self-evident—after a couple of "its." If Mr. Close should be nominated, and if he should be elected, clearly there would be a wacancy on the Supreme Eench, which either Nelson or Field would like to fill. It is doubtfuilf the riends of Judge Nelson ever get over the idea that he is the proper man for a nomination at all times. THE BEVERAGE IN LOUISVILLE When it first made its appearance in this city it did not meet with a hearty welcome, and eight or ter years elapsed before it was a standard tire ion it began to grow rapidly in favor, ot only among the Germans, but notivea also, and is now a very important item of mmerca and productive manufacture, atlatics show that since the use of beer whisky, hrandy, gin, and all other strong liquors has gradually diminished. It may appear like fighting the devil with fire, and a little paradoxical, but it has done more to suppress diagraceful dissipation than all the temperance orders in the country. It is, therefore, a great temperance missioner. perance missionary. If every man and woman that is arrested and put in our jall and station-houses for being drunk and disorderly were questioned as to the kind of liquor they had been using, it would be developed that not ten out of fifty could charge their troubles to beer. HOW IT IS BREWED. The name, "lager beer," being reduced to plain English, signifies beer a tre. It can be made from any grain from which other malt liquora are brewed the precess is similar to the brewing o ale and porter, but, being a lighter prod-uct, it is not as expensive as either of the others. There are some other essential points of difference, and making lager eer is a business separate and distinct in ing, carting, selling, and serving beer not less than five thrusand persons. The amount of capital invested is difficult to estimate, I ut it will be safe to put it at three hundred thousand dollars. Negro wmindler.

It is a little remarkable, but true that there is not a saloon in the city fitted up in first-class sayle. The august of patronage bestowed upon them would justify the proprietors in fitting up hand-cornely, and reuting large and well ven-tilated rooms in which to serve their customers. As they are now, it is often impossible to get out when you are in, or in when you are ont, on account of the narrow and contracted space they have.

AMONG THE BEER KEGS. The Continental Fire Insuгансе Сопрану, Л. Т.

A Fifteen-yene Success. Over fifteen years have past since this company was organized. Recently the littelors, steckholders, and officers con nemorated the fifteenth anniversary of the company, in an elegant sociable reion, which afforded a pleasaut oppor unity for reviewing the progress of the clice. The Continental has since the car i-57 stood forward as the firm, sucrear i-57 stood ferward as the nrm, suc-essful representative of the "participa-ion" plan of the insurance, which is in imple inaguage the plan of giving back to the insured a literal share of the profits, hree-fourths of the surplus rates charged ter raying the losses and condu ne business; thus effectually making the enred partners in the prosperity f the company, without, however, their earing any share of the responsibility sumed beyond the payment of the pre minn: Individually charged. Already he Continental has returned to the in-sured $489,438.72 of profits, hesides pay-ag annual interest on acrip until recerred. The accumulated a rip fund of
